#noescape
by Gretchen McNeil

#noescape by Gretchen McNeil is about a girl named Persey and seven other contestants invited to participate in an all-star escape room competition with a huge $10 million prize.

Escape room stories can be a little boring, but I thought that this one was really good and some of the escape rooms were actually quite unique. This book gives a bit of backstory to the other books, and you end up finding out who was behind The Postman app, which was super interesting.
